

GIANTS HOLD CENTRE OF BASEBALL STAGE

Their Long Winning Streak Has Put Them Far Out in Front of National League Teams.

New York, July 13.—The Giants hold the centre of the baseball stage last week. Their winning streak has put them far in front in the National League race. This week they face the possibility of serious rivalry from an old-time foe, the Pirates.

Before the season opened the Pirates on form appeared to have a bright chance for an pennant. Largely through ineffective box work they lagged far behind, until July 4 found them in fifth position. But the last ten days have seen a decided change. Clarke's men now are carrying everything before them, and his pitchers apparently are back in form. Yesterday marked Pittsburgh's eighth straight victory, the team not losing a game during the week.

As the race stands to-day, the Pirates are but two games behind the Cubs and have and one-half to the year of the Quakers. Far out in the distance stand the Giants. The season, however, is but a trifle more than half over, and even thirteen games' advantage is not an insuperable barrier. New York worked its string of successive victories up to fourteen last week, and then fell behind Chicago, which club otherwise fared poorly until the striking of the going in Brooklyn.

The week's figures make a sorry reading for friends of the Philadelphia Nationals, for the club dropped all but two games in seven, and fell back to a point seven and a half games behind the Giants. Doolin gave the club a thorough shaking up during the week, and yesterday it began to look as if he would get results.

The case is far worse for Brooklyn, which lost its tenth straight game yesterday, and is now back in the second division. Poor pitching has been the Superbas' main trouble. Boston is not far behind Brooklyn now, the Braves winning five out of eight games last week. St. Louis suffered most at Boston's hands, but won the final. Cincinnati got in even breaks, and the Braves, finding Brooklyn in the dumps.

Time Week in American.
The week in the American League was tame compared to the stirring happenings in the National. Cleveland kept pace with the Athletics, each winning four out of six games. Washington and Chicago both fell off, and Boston broke a little better than even. St. Louis was the only team to hold its own with leaders in games won and lost. The New Yorks split, losing their wins and losses evenly, while Detroit kept up its weak work by losing five of seven games.

A double day of games at the Cleveland, with which the week opened, gave the White Sox a start on their setback, and the New Yorks took two from three from the Athletics. Some dropping from form on the part of the Athletic twirlers has been noticed. Eddie Plank had one of his poorest weeks this year. Bender has been doing little work, and the bulk of the pitching devolved upon the youngsters.

Washington also is having pitching troubles, the staff having dropped to a two-man basis for the week. According to last week's showing, St. Louis' twirling contingent is showing better form than those of most teams far behind them.

Detroit has been notoriously weak on the mound all season, and Jennings is having poor luck in recruiting. A staff that has improved is that of the Athletics, with Ford, Keating, Fisher and McConnell all showing effectiveness.

The record in each league of games played, won and lost, with runs, hits, errors and men left on base, follows:

and return from Buffalo. . . . I have no doubt you delivered a few orations on Robert Emmet—a theme teeming with pathos—as Tom Moore says, "And the tear that we shed through in second line of our souls." Although you are a natural born humorist, yet there is a strong vein of German melancholy in your composition which human events combine to give it strength.

On March 30, 1902, the second letter was sent to Governor Sulzer in Washington. This one read:

"My Honey Boy:

"Does the moonlight make you feel romantic? You know in the spring of young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of . . .

"I am going to tell you something I overheard when I was at the office. I when I didn't know you as well as I do now. . . . He and another man, both strangers to me, were talking politics, and this was his allusion to you: 'Willie, he had married a girl who only wears $4 worth of clothes, but he's all right!'

"Only $4 worth of clothes for such a long drink as you are, Willie! I was astonished, for I had seen your trousers I ever saw advertised were immortalized by Senator Dewey at the New England society dinner when he said: 'I have seen Billy Sulzer in a pair of Rock pants for $3. Four minus three leaves only one. Willie, dear, for all the other trimmings. . . .

By the way, the favorable Bird S. Coler has taken a tip from somebody and is trying to be a 'friend to the plain people.' Formerly he drove four tandem and did the 'howling' act, but by the way, he has a good horse, a square-topped derby! Trying to look like a farmer to catch the up-State vote, which is easy. . . .

"Seriously do you have a holiday at Easter? As the gentleman from Carolina said, 'It's a long time between drinks.' . . .

"Her Honor Pleased Him. . . .

Miss Hopkins said that letters such as the last always pleased the Governor, and that she tried hard to write in a spirit of frivolity to take his mind off himself. . . .

The third letter was sent to No. 222 East Twelfth Street, New York, on September 5, 1902. It was addressed to Billy Sulzer, and was a long one. . . .

"Dearest Willie, it makes me happy to hear you are in good spirits again, and that your efforts for the 'cause' are thoroughly appreciated. . . .

"I trust, dear, that you will have a new picture taken; you are much more attractive looking than two years ago—in fact, like every good thing, you improve with age and experience. I want you to send me one of those big pictures, viz., 'For Congress,' and if you won't, I'll call at the Democratic headquarters and ask the gentleman there to please give me a picture of my blue-eyed Billy. . . .

"I received the Buffalo papers last Monday and thank you. Liked what you said of 'woman's fidelity.' You could not have said it if you hadn't been treated right by the woman you
